COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 12.-The official vote in all but two of the eighty-eight counties has been received by the secretary of state. These were secured by the State Journal, and a complete offi-cial tabulation of the vote cast for the two leading gubernatorial candidates in

given below.
Every one of the infantile parties which crawled to a place upon the official ballot by aid of petitions, if they eucceed in getting a place on the ballot next year will have to get it by the same means. tective cakewalk, which was repudiated by every self-respecting negro voter in Ohlo, received but 483.

The total vote cast was $54,843, against 1,900.873 in 1896. All but 23,208 votes were cast for the Republican or Democratic parties, and these were distributed among the six smaller parties which secured a position on the ballot by petition. The law reculiers a party to reion. The law requires a party to reorder to maintain its standing as party. So it will be seen from the total vote cast for the six smaller parties that none of them received the requisite support. The Socialist Labor party shows remarkably well in comparison to its prototype, the People's party. It received more than 1,000 votes in Cuyahoga county alone.

The official returns are very close to the estimated plurality of Governor Bushnell. The governor's plurality is 23,135, a very substantial testimonial to his popularity. So it will be seen from the total

THE INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY-SCHOOL LESSON.

November 14, 1807. Acts. xxxviii, 17-31 Pant's Ministry in Rome.

Paul's Ministry in Rome.
For rhetorical purposes, the ignoble character of Paul's entrance to Rome may have been exaggerated. Four months had elapsed since the ship-wreck. The subsequent voyage had been prosperous. For a week Paul had refreshed himself in the scenery of the retreshed himself in the scenery of the Vesuvian bny and the congenial society of believers. Two admiring escorts came to meet him in successive stages. He entered Rome as a Roman. His appeal to Caesar invested him with dignity. On personal grounds, he was treated with marked consideration by the officer in charge. . . . All deductions of the charge of the charge treated with marked consideration by the officer in charge. . All deductions made, however, the contrast between the might of Nero and the weakness of Paul remains. It is the contrast between the material and the spiritual. The kingdom of heaven was entering the imperial city without observation, and in the servile form of a Jewish prisoner. But if the augurs of the capital could have discerned the sign, they heyings. The house which the handley of Christians enabled him to rent collipsed any oracle in a city full of them. According to his established custom—"the Jew Grat"—he gave his fellow countrymen the initial audience. The ardent patriotism which could wish itself accursed for the nake of kinsmen according to the flesh, that constantly breathed its hear's desire and prayer that Israel might be saved—such a love of country could not brook any instinuation against itself. Paul hastened to explain that his appeal from a Hebrew to a heathen court was not prompted by any unjustroite motive nor any personal pique agains his fallow countrymen. There is no fine comment on Paul's noble ode to tellow countrymen. There is no there comment on Paul's noble ode to that charity which beareth all things and endureth all things, than his own mild allusion to his cruel treatment at

for the "hope of Israel" put it on him. The very expectation of the Messiah, which they all alike indulged, was the cause of his arrest. . The Jews had a manifold probation. First, the population resident in Palestine; next. the Jews of the dispersion in Asia and Greece; finally, the sixty thousand in the Ghetto of Rome. Individuals believed, the nation was obdurate. With a broken heart the captive missionary sang the requiem of his commonwealth in the solemn strains of the prophet.

market to respond to the oblish tone with which this market closed the day before was chiefly responsible for the market's decline. The market opened but 16.24 dadvance and had even lost this by the time trading commenced here to-day. Northwest receipts were large, compared with last year's figures, Minneapolis and Duluth reporting $20 cars, against 949 a week ago and 454 last year. Chicago got 54 cars to-day, 144 a week ago and 49 the similar day of the year before. New York wired shortly after the opening that they had selling orders there from continent for December wheat, but other messages said private cablegrams from the continent were firm.

The total receipts for the day at primary western markets amounted to 1,055,000 bushels against 541,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis stocks of wheat for the week are expected to show an increase of 1,000,000 bushels and Duluth an increase of 200,000 bushels. The general guesses here on the change in the week, a visible ran from 2,000,000 bushels to 2,500,000 bushels increase. The week year year of the situation by the modern miller was rather beartsh, but on a tip that preceded its details that it would be buillish in time buying started that put price from around 90% to 9144c. After receipt of the Modern Miller report the price sagged back to 50% c, but near the end of the session assurances from most reliable sources in the northwest were received to the effect that there was a marked falling off in farmer's deliveries and they were to-day not over half what they were a week ago.
